Our factory packed tomatæs at a cost of 55 cents a dozen. They The Board of Health at Ports- can corn at a cost of 40 to 45 of the world is yearly increasing its consumption of canned vegetables. All the vegetables that can be canned must be grown in a limited belt. Every new country on the globe to be hereafter settled must get its canned goods from that belt as the vegetables must be canned where grown. Missouri holds the medals of the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893 for canned tomatœs.

> Some of the farmers here raised 700 bushels of tomatœs to the aere and sold them to the factory at 30 cents a bushel, making them $210 an acre for their tomatoes. Sam Seaman and Claude R. Bowman got $37 an acre for their sweet corn delivered at their factory in the husk. Pumpkins will pay as well as corn and tomatœs. - Savannah, Missouri Reporter.

If a canning factory would do half as much for Clay City as it has done for Savannah, Mo., it will pay us over and over again to invest $10,000 00 in a canning plant. That is the proposition now up to us. Let everybody help.

Many are conjecturing on the political situation in the race for State officers next year, assuming the danger of Republican success. Because the Republicans gained three new Congressmen in Kentucky this fall does not count much for success in the State next fall. The recent vote in the State on the whole is anything but favorable for the Republicans. The total vete of that party was only 126,162 while the Democratic vote was 155,820 which shows the handsome Democratic majority in the State of 29,658. In this election we see a great deal of encouragement for the Democrats if we did loose three Congressmen.
